WHY COOPER MCCULLOUGH GROUP?

To safely deliver quality meaningful projects benefitting our clients, the community and cultivating a collaborative high performing team culture for our employees.

ABOUT US

Cooper McCullough Group (CMG) Pty Ltd was founded by company directors Ryan Keating and Lachlan McCullough, on the back of strong performances in previous construction companies. Cooper McCullough Group is a Queensland based construction company primarily servicing Central and South-East Queensland. The directors bring a combined 40 years of experience in safely executing a wide range of construction projects of varying size and complexity. CMG personnel pride themselves in delivering; on time, below budget, quality projects whilst upholding the highest possible safety standards.

Cooper McCullough Group Pty Ltd specialises in delivering civil infrastructure projects as principal contractor, mining and mine services works, and plant hire. More detail can be found in the “Our Services” section.

SAFETY & CULTURE

Cooper McCullough Group take our health and safety culture very seriously and do not compromise on safe work practices, continually striving for Zero Harm to people across all our work fronts. Health and Safety is ingrained in our culture and we are continually challenging our people to look for innovative ways to reduce risks when delivering works. Our people are the heart and soul of the company and the reason for the energetic ‘can do’ attitude exhibited throughout the organisation. CMG personnel are highly qualified, experienced, passionate and driven, and this is reflected in the quality of work delivered.

MINING & MINE SERVICES

Cooper McCullough Group key personnel have had a long history working in the mining sector and understand the needs of our clients. CMG promote a positive safe to speak up safety culture and believe that when works are well planned and communicated effectively, a zero harm future is a real possibility.
